

Theatre Special Interest Group (TIP-SIG)

The TIP-SIG is designed to provide IRP members the opportunity to discuss and analyze a series of live theatre performances over the course of each semester. Each month the TIP-SIG coordinators designate a theatre production that participants will see prior to attending a discussion session that focuses on an analysis of the play, the production and the way the various elements of theatre (sets, costumes, lighting, acting and directing, etc.) contributed to the audience's experience of the production.
